The Problem

- In 2003, faced with mounting budgetary shortages, the Minneapolis Police Department (MPD) made the decision to dissolve its Juvenile Unit.

- From 2003 to early 2006, the MPD began to see an upward trend in juvenile crime and juvenile violence.

- Juveniles were being reported as suspects and arrestees in larger numbers as well as victims of violent crime.
Analysis

In 2006, 43% of homicide victims in Minneapolis were between the ages of 15-24.

By 2006, felony assault committed by this group was up 11% and simple assault was up almost 17%.

Firearms possession by youth aged 10-24 increased 41% in 2006 over 2003.

Furthermore, curfew and truancy arrests had nearly doubled in 2006 and had jumped 155% over 2003.[1]
The Response

- Police Chief Tim Dolan authorized the re-creation of the Juvenile Unit.
- Placed then Lt. Bryan Schafer in charge of the unit.
- Consisted of approximately 8 Sergeant investigators and 2 support staff;
The Response

- Mayor R.T. Rybak began developing the “Blueprint for Action: Preventing Youth Violence” which viewed youth violence as a public health concern.

- He brought the public and private sectors together in a series of initiatives.

- The re-creation of the Juvenile Unit and the “Blueprint” were intricately interwoven, and the result has been a sizeable downturn in overall juvenile crime and recidivism.
Our Goal

- Reduce & prevent crime through quality investigations
- Centralized location for officers to bring juveniles to be quickly identified and dropped off.
- Focus on violent offenders
- Triage arrestees for services
- Collaborate with our community partners

JUVENILE DIVISION

Investigations and Central Intake

▪ Only investigate Robbery, Assaults (including Domestics) and Missing Persons/Runaways (suspect or arrestee’s under 18)

▪ Open until 0400 hours.

▪ Because of the difficulty for street officers to properly identify juveniles, the Division has a booking and processing function that has been found to be invaluable.
Focus on Violent Offenders

Juvenile Criminal Apprehension Team (JCAT)

- We recognized the need to address juveniles who commit felonies and had outstanding warrants.

- JCAT is led by one MPD sergeant and supported by Minneapolis Park Police, Hennepin County S.O., Probation, and U.S. Marshals.
The JCAT team is often thanked by parents for helping to get their children back on the right track and out of trouble.

"It's so hard to turn your babies in, you know - you don't want to see them go to jail, but he's out there runnin' the street and I'm so afraid something's going to happen to him....so thank you. This way I know where he's at, and I know he's safe."

- Concept to operation in 1.5 years
Coordinating the Juvenile Supervision Center

- Formed and funded through a Joint Powers partnership consisting of the City of Minneapolis, Hennepin County and Minneapolis Public Schools

- The Link, a private non-profit, focused serving the community through advocacy, housing, education, and intervention services.

- The JSC is adjacent to the space occupied by the Juvenile Division and open 24/7, 365 days a year.
Coordinating the Juvenile Supervision Center

- The Center provides safe supervision and community resource connections to kids picked up by MPD officers for low-level violations that do not meet booking criteria for Juvenile Detention.

- The Center also conducts a preliminary risk assessment to each juvenile brought in to determine needs and further case management.

- 79% of youth that come into the Center never return.

Collaborate with Community Partners

School Resource Officer Program

- MPD believes that officers serving in schools should strive to build positive relationships with students.

- Balancing the role of the SRO from solely an enforcement position to that of a liaison connects children to a full array of community services within the system.
School Resource Officer Program

- Decriminalizing school behavior
- Curb low-level criminal behavior
- Visible in surrounding communities
- Building positive working relationships with school staff, students, and parent groups.
- Working closely with school personnel in determining the proper course of action for delinquency.
Table 4 shows the dramatic decreases in school crimes over 4 years. The largest drop has occurred since the MPD has been the provider of School Resource Officers. Extrapolated out, at the current monthly rate, the 2008-2009 school year could see 302 cases, which is still a 36 percent decrease in cases over 2007-2008, and a 73% decrease over the 2005-2006 school year. As predicted, we had 294 cases, a 79% decrease over 2005-2006.

Data provided by the Hennepin County Attorney’s Office
Initiative 1: Safe Routes to School

- Provides extra patrol in high-crime areas to allow children safe paths to their schools.

- Encourages kids to get daily exercise and stay healthy by walking to school.

- The MPD’s Intelligence Sharing and Analysis Unit (ISAC) provided six months of mapped crime data in/around a six block radius of the ten schools.

- School Resource Officers will provide in-school training to educate children on the importance of following these safe routes and what to do in case of emergency.
Safe Routes to School
Taking the program to the next level:

- MPD is exploring the option of using their Crime Prevention Specialists to collaborate with neighborhoods to identify safe havens along the designated routes in the form of Safe Houses.

- This could also lead to the expansion of block clubs and more cohesion in our neighborhoods.

- By connecting police, schools, and community, these routes become safe communities and lay the foundation for a strong community partnership.
Initiative 2: Knock & Talk Truancy Diversion

- The Knock and Talk Truancy Diversion program is a partnership with the Minneapolis Public School system.

- Precinct-level patrol officers receive information from the MPS on elementary-aged truants who have 5 or more unexcused absences.

- Officers go to student’s residences and educate parents/caregivers on compulsory school attendance to include pamphlets in several languages.

- In the 2007-2008 school year, this program showed a 76 percent increase in attendance among students who were visited.
Initiative 3: School Patrol Safety Program

- The Juvenile Division coordinates the School Patrol Safety Program for the Minneapolis Public Schools.

- A School Patrol Agent assists 50 schools with training and monitoring of their school patrol programs.

- Over 300 students have been trained as school crossing guards in 2009.

- A significant partner with the MPD in this effort is AAA of MN.
Initiative 4: Speak-Up tip line

- The MPD Juvenile Division SRO program partnered with Minneapolis Public Schools and the City of Minneapolis to kick-off a new tip line for MPS students.

- 1-866-SPEAK-UP is a toll-free hotline and text message service that young people can contact to anonymously report weapon threats in their schools and communities.

- Over 50 tips have been received since the start of the program. These tips are immediately disseminated to school security and SRO’s.
Initiative 5: Summer Proactive SRO Details

The totality of the work of the Juvenile Division has undeniably been an enormous factor in lowering juvenile crime,

Creating a revised vision of juvenile justice that works in favor of law enforcement, the community, and the city’s youth.

These elements have formed the foundation for strong community partnership and is the result of a Problem Oriented Policing strategy.

“Through this multifaceted approach, MPD found the answer for juvenile crime, and the answer is a good balance between tough enforcement for serious offenders and providing real help to first-time offenders.”
